John Mitchell Explains Withdrawal from Federation

New York March 30 Friends of John Mitchell former president of the United Mine Workers of America are today praising his admission that he simply took a dose of his own medicine when he relinquished his $6,000 job with the National Civic Federation to retain his union card.

Mitchell's statement was made at a dinner given in his honor by the Pennsylvania Social club.

"I did not give up $6,000 a year for the little card," said Mitchell. "I gave up the money for a principle. When I had power to enforce similar edicts I ordered other men to give up their money. It would have been a shame had I hesitated when the order came to me from my union. I hoped that my action might be an example for all the union men of America."

DESTRUCTIVE WORK OF FIRE AND WATER

Ruins of Empire State Capitol Are Slowly Cooling

Albany N Y March 30 Fire smoke and water have ended their destructive work in the western portion of the capitol building and as soon as the ruins cool the work of clearing away the wreckage will commence.

Nearly all the departments located on the eastern side of the building resumed business today. Those in the damaged portion have established headquarters in the city hall or in adjacent buildings.

Several fire engines with steam up and hose connected have been stationed near the building for use in case the fire breaks out again. It is expected that today the firemen will be able to enter the state library portion of the building to search for the body of night watchman Abbott.

The total loss is today placed at $8,000,000.

BUCKETSHOPS GAIN VICTORY

Justice Wright Hands Down a Decision

UNCLE SAM S PLANS HALTED FOR A TIME

And Campaign May Amount to Naught

Sweeping Decision of Justice Wright Declares the Anti-Bucketshop Law Unconstitutional—Says Language of Statute So Broad as To Prohibit All Contracts—Appeal May Be Presented at Once

Washington March [illegible] A sweeping decision declaring the anti-bucketshop law unconstitutional because of ambiguity was rendered today by Justice Wright of the District of Columbia supreme court.

Indictments against thirteen alleged bucketshop proprietors in Washington Baltimore and Chicago [illegible] arrested in simultaneous raid by the department of justice last May were ordered dismissed.

If sustained by the higher courts the decision today will frustrate the government's campaign against bucketshop gambling throughout the country.

The thirteen defendants including Edward A Lemus Louis Cella Lemo Cello and Samuel Adler of Chicago Henry K Duryea and Charles R Alley of Washington C A Tillis William Fox Robert Hall Samuel Raymond Otto Rappel M Browning and Henry C Stumpf of Baltimore were indicted May 27 1910 by the grand jury here charged with violating that portion of the district code which prohibited [illegible] margin gambling.

Wholesale raids [illegible] the country resulted in the arrest by department of justice agents of [illegible] or more brokers. Six of these pleaded guilty and were fined. The remainder were released on bond.

Justice Wright declared in his opinion today that the language of the statute was so broad as to prohibit all contracts.

A YELLOW DOG FUND SCENTED

Sensational Developments Are Expected

NEW YORK BANKS MAY BE INVOLVED

Grand Jury Will Probe Matter at Once

It Is Expected That Developments Will Show How Big Financial Institutions Furnish Lavish Fund and Pay Money Right and Left in Order To Bring More Deposits—District Attorney Gets Secrets

New York March 30—That certain banks of New York maintain a secret yellow dog fund which is used to bribe persons in a position to bring new business to the institutions is expected to be developed by the grand jury now investigating the wrecking of the Carnegie Trust company. It has already been shown that this institution which was looted right and left by a clique of politician financiers had a yellow dog fund that totaled $1,500,000. From this was paid out with a lavish hand to any one who might be able to throw deposits toward the concern. Financial officials of big corporations executors of big estates and persons occupying similar positions were bribed to turn cash over to the Carnegie.

Already it is intimated that the developments will compel a legislative investigation which will expose rotten banking conditions in this state rivalling those uncovered when the big life insurance companies were probed.

Former officials of the Carnegie and the Northern banks incensed over what they allege to be an attempt to make them scapegoats have informed District Attorney Whitman that they will tell the grand jury exactly how banking is conducted in New York. They have already cited names and figures and shown that there was a regular scale of commissions paid out for obtaining deposits.

To Demand Probe

Middlemen and principals were dealt with by certain banks and there was a general understanding regarding rates to be paid so that there was no securing a monopoly of any institution.

The grand jury has discovered that $1[illegible],000 of the Carnegie Trust cash was paid to have its former president the late C C Dickinson elected a trustee of Cornell university and that this money was promptly charged against the yellow dog fund the existence of which for some reason seem to have been unknown to the examiners who gave the concern a clean bill of health.

The grand jury has in its hands indictments charging felonies against six individuals but these will be held up until charges made that a former high official of the state banking department aided the officials of the Carnegie Trust in mutilating their record books to conceal alone are probed. It is expected when the jury completes its work it will accompany the first batch of indictments with a presentment recommending a thorough legislative investigation of state banks and bankings.

Washington March [illegible]0 Caucuses will be held by the Democrats Saturday and the Republicans Monday to prepare for the organization of the house next [illegible].

In the Democratic caucus Champ Clark of Missouri for speaker and South Trimble of Kentucky for clerk will have no opposition. Rev Henry N Couden the blind chaplain of the house has several opponents. Rev Mr Couden is a civil war veteran and the Grand Army posts are urging his election.

MADERO PLAYS LEADING PART

Don Alfonso Talks of Brother's Plans

WHAT THE PEACE TERMS DEMAND

The Peace Conference May Be Held in Cuba

Don Alfonso Declares Concessions Desired by Provisional President Francisco Madero and His Chiefs and Soldiers Must Come from Diaz Within One Week—Issues Official Statement Regarding Matter

San Antonio Texas March 30—In an official statement made today in an effort to set at rest various reports as to peace negotiations in Mexico Don Alfonso Madero brother of Provisional President Francisco I Madero declared that everything depends upon the answer to be made within one week by his brother to the peace plans outlined by the Diaz administration. If Madero then believes he can gain sufficient concessions to warrant further negotiation he will appoint a peace committee to meet the Diaz peace commission in neutral territory. This will not necessarily be in Washington. It may be in Cuba Guatemala or some other Latin country.

Madero officially denies that Chihuahua City has been selected as the site for conducting peace negotiations adding that his brother Francisco would not attend the negotiations but would if he sees fit to enter them appoint a peace committee.

In the frankest statement yet made regarding the peace overtures Madero said:

"There is a mistaken notion regarding the part played by my father and myself. We can not make peace with Mexico that rests with my brother Francisco and his chiefs and soldiers.

"My father and Senor Limantour Mexican minister of finance met in the hotel Plaza New York and decided to attempt to bring about peace. My father made certain demands conditional always upon their acceptance by my brother and his soldiers.

The Concessions

"What these demands were I am not in a position now to state.

"Limantour went to Mexico and laid these demands before President Diaz who accepted them. My father is now getting into communication with my brother who is a day's journey west of Chihuahua to lay the proposals before him. Neither my father nor myself will enter Mexico without a guarantee of safe conduct from the Mexican government. I can not tell you how we are communicating with my brother but we expect an answer from him in a [illegible].

"My brother will consider concessions from the Mexican government and lay them before his chiefs and soldiers. If they agree that the Mexican government is willing to grant the things they demand my brother will appoint a peace commission to meet the Diaz peace commission on neutral grounds. The meeting positively will not be held in Chihuahua. Until we hear from my brother matters are in status quo. The insurrectos are continuing to wage their warfare and will not lay down their arms until peace is finally established.

Are Not Rebels

"Please understand that neither my father nor myself is in a position to talk peace with the Diaz administration. We merely are endeavoring to bring the government and my brother Francisco and his people together. We are not peace envoys. We [illegible] insurrec[illegible] we are merely acting in the capacity of peace makers trying to bring the warring faction together. My father told Limantour what he thought would be acceptable to my brother and his people but he did not speak for my brother.

"A [illegible] of the Madero followers will join the Diaz federals in crushing the Socialist rebels in Lower California [illegible] peace [illegible] established [illegible].

"The people are not fighting [illegible] but will recognize [illegible] have [illegible] any peace con[illegible] [illegible] When [illegible] established we will insist the federal government stop all [illegible] [illegible] will be [illegible] [illegible] they should be willing [illegible] We do not [illegible] They [illegible] merely [illegible] [illegible] natural evolution was [illegible] [illegible] We are [illegible] [illegible]"

More Than 3,000 Measures Are Considered

In Spite of the Violent Agitation Which Stirs Up Legislature at Various Times During Session No Legislation Antagonistic to Japanese Residents Is Adopted—The Progressive Enactments

Sacramento, Cal., March 28.—After one of the longest and most progressive sessions in western history the thirty ninth California legislature adjourned sine die a few hours after midnight today. The session was marked by the passage of a score of big and many small measures in the interest of cleaner politics, betterment of labor conditions and reformation of judicial procedure. More than 3,000 bills were considered, a new record for California legislation.

In spite of the violent agitation which stirred the legislature at various times during its session no legislation antagonistic to the Japanese residents was adopted. Governor Johnson and the legislative federal relations committee worked hand in hand with the United States government to prevent embarrassments and succeeded in keeping the legislature comparatively cool.

The anti alien land ownership, a drastic measure which prevented Orientals from owning land in the state, passed the senate but failed in the assembly owing to the lack of time for consideration. A bill for the reapportionment of the state legislative districts also failed. Progressive enactments by the thirty ninth California legislature were as follows:

Aiding the Women

Petitions on an initiative and referendum must number eight per cent of all votes cast for all candidates [illegible] governor at the preceding general election while petitions for a recall election must number twelve per cent.

WETS GO DOWN IN LAST FIGHT

The Fulton Bill Is Defeated in House.

VOTE IS SIXTY TO FIFTY-SIX

Author of the Measure Attacks Rose Law.

[illegible] That Business Houses Have Failed, Taxes Increased and More Liquor Consumed in Newark Than Before Passage of Rose Law—The "Dry" Forces Put Up Numerous Arguments.

Columbus, O., March 30.—By a vote of 56 for and 60 against, the house defeated the Fulton bill giving the cities of Ohio the right to vote independently of the counties on the question of permitting the sale of liquor. The vote was the same as on the Dean bill, killed some weeks ago. This is said to be the end of liquor legislation as far as the present session of the legislature is concerned.

Representative Billingslea of Butler county, who has been sick at his home for nearly three months, arrived at the capitol a few minutes before the bill was taken up. He said he had come especially to vote for it.

On the desk of Representative D. P. Hagerty of Hancock county, an ardent wet, who died about 10 days ago, the drys placed a bunch of carnations with an inscription in gold letters on a silk banner "A Silent Vote Against the Dean-Fulton Bill."

Describes Newark Conditions.

Speaking for the bill Representative Fulton of Licking county, its author, [illegible] would not take effect [illegible] and would affect only [illegible] cities. He said the Rose county option law had been a failure in Licking county. He claimed to [illegible] him from 80 to 90 per cent of the people of Newark in advocating the passage of his bill.

"This bill will give home rule to cities," declared Fulton, "you will forever settle the liquor question. The cities can not be governed as the [illegible] is. Let us govern ourselves."

Fulton said the bootleggers of the state are against his bill because [illegible] present conditions under the Rose law. Big business houses in Newark have failed, taxes have increased and the sale of liquor has increased since the county was voted dry, said Fulton. The mayor of Newark finds it impossible to enforce the liquor laws with the great majority of the people against the law," he said.

Representative Kilpatrick, Democrat of Trumbull county, leading the fight against the Fulton bill, said: "The men who say the state administration is behind this bill lie. If the Democrats do not heed the voice of the people in this matter down [illegible] go. We dare not heed the lies of those who come in here reeking and [illegible] of filth and with the blood of the people on their hands.

"It is impossible to choke down [illegible] throats something they don't want," said Representative Alexander of Hamilton county, denouncing the Rose law. He said the Rose law had failed.

Agents Taking Occasional Drink.

Representative Price Russell of Wayne county, the Democratic floor leader, said he took a drink when he wanted [illegible] but that was no reason [illegible] vote for the Fulton bill. [illegible] said the people didn't want the [illegible] passed and anyway the question should be deferred for final settlement in the constitutional convention next year. Non-interference with the Rose law at this time is good Democratic doctrine, he said.

Representative Greeves of Cuyahoga county denounced the Rose law [illegible] the drys for having [illegible] the carnations with its [illegible] "A Silent vote against the Dean-Fulton bill," on the desk of Representative Hagerty, deceased.

[illegible] Freiner of Vinton county, a dry, compared the Fulton [illegible] the Rodgers act, by which [illegible] streetcar franchise in [illegible] was given away. "It is a regular Monte Carlo," said Mr. Minton. "I with some acquaintances, walked right into the gambling room without any trouble and saw gambling going on for some time. At 4 o'clock the flames burned through the huge marble walls, thick as a city's bulwarks and swept into the office of Senator Robert H. Wagner majority leader of the senate. At this point only two rooms were between the fire and the senate chamber. The senators were notified to make a rush and take from their desks all the documents they wished to preserve.

State Architect Ware was early on the scene along with many other state and city officials. He said that it would be impossible to give an idea of the damage until after the flames are extinguished. Others estimated the loss at 8 o'clock at from $[illegible],000,000 to $8,000,000.

Captain Storey and his men were fighting the flames in the senate committee room when the fire eating through supposedly fireproof doors trapped them for a time in a [illegible] pieces had been saved. About a year ago the state charter granted by Charles the Second to the Duke of York, the Dongan charter, the Washington relics, the Major Andre papers, Lincoln's emancipation proclamation were placed in a [illegible] safe in the office of the superintendent of public instruction on the first floor of the building. All the Dutch and English colonial records except such as are in the custody of the secretary of state are destroyed and their loss is of course irreparable. The Van Rensselaer collection of historical manuscripts, some [illegible],000 pieces in number, only recently acquired, is lost.

The loss upon that portion of the capitol building destroyed is doubtless in the neighborhood of $[illegible],000,000. This amount does not include the furnishings which were of the most costly description, nor the contents of the state library.

There is no insurance whatever as it has not been the policy of the state to insure its buildings save in the case of certain hospitals and asylum plants.

A defective electric wire is said to have caused the fire.

If the fire had started an hour earlier it would have found the Democratic members of the legislature caucused in the senate chamber discussing the senatorial situation. The caucus adjourned at 2 o'clock to reconvene at 10 o'clock this morning.

THE LEGEND OF THE LARK

Very Pretty Tale Found In Folk Lore of the Aborigines of Japan

The Ainu (the aborigines of Japan) have many legends about birds one of which is very pretty. It is thus given by a recent writer:

The skylark used only in heaven. One day the God in heaven sent him down to the earth with a message for the gods who reside here telling him to return the same day. But the little bird thought the earth such a nice place that he stayed to play. He was here so long that it began to grow dark and he therefore determined to spend the night on the ground. The next day he arose in the air to return to heaven but God met him when he was about six score feet up and said: "Why did you not return as I told you? As therefore you have disobeyed my words you shall not return to heaven but live upon the earth. Although you may attempt to fly as high up as heaven yet you shall never be able to get any higher than one or two score of 6 feet." The little bird was exceedingly concerned at this and arguing with God said: "Oh great God as the world you made is so beautiful I could not help taking a look at it and so go late. Although you chide me for this yet I will fly back to heaven." In this way he answered God. But God did not consent. Therefore the little bird grew more and more distressed and daily went as high as he could pleading all the time yet God would never consent to his entrance into heaven again. He therefore returned to the earth to play. After a time he ascended and did the same thing yet God did not consent. The same thing continues to happen now every summer but God never will allow him to return.

This as I have said is very pretty and even spiritual but it seems to have been a happy accident for it is in striking contrast to the other legends which are more or less stupid and pointless.—Forest and Stream.

Marriage and Liberty

Liberty comes in [illegible] different ways. For women it comes most often through marriage.

Since women in [illegible] have more space after they are married for the exercise of their will than they had before, therefore we can [illegible] more clearly what they really are. The most tyrannical husband cannot rob a woman of her authority over her children and her household. The [illegible] woman is better, the [illegible] woman is harder, the mean woman is meaner than [illegible] she was.

Usually a [illegible] woman has a more strongly [illegible] character than her unmarried sister. [illegible] tends and [illegible] more easy to call up [illegible] men [illegible] face they are [illegible] sure how she will act in given [illegible] circumstances. Marriage is almost always fraught with some surprises to the student of character. [illegible] These surprises are loosely described as changes [illegible] character [illegible] so [illegible] an occurrence more [illegible] in women [illegible] enough [illegible] regarded [illegible] in explanation [illegible]

MUSIC AS A LIFE-SAVER

Tale From the Vasty Deep That Proves Truth of Song Warbled by Poet

Up from the vasty deep comes a tale that proves the truth of what the poet sang when he warbled to the effect that music hath charms to sooth the savage breast.

The story has been delivered in New York by the crew of the bark Pallas which was wrecked on Grand Cayman island in the Caribbean sea during the recent tropical hurricane. When the vessel struck it was in the night and in order to cheer up their comrades during the hours before daylight two of the crew who happened to be musicians ground out tunes on a fiddle and accordion. That the performers escaped to tell the tale must be put down as a remarkable evidence of the fortitude and forgiveness on the part of the men who were facing death in watery graves.

However no murder was done and when day broke the natives of the island were seen hurrying to the rescue in such boats as they could command. They explained that they had heard the music and had come down to investigate the strange occurrence. The whole lot of shipwrecked men as well as some chickens and a pig were taken ashore and a grand barbecue with fiddle and concertina accompaniment celebrated the rescue.

All of which points to the moral that when one goes down to the sea in a ship he should carry some producer of sweet sounds—even if nothing more than a jew's harp—along as a life preserver.

NO USE FOR WALKING STICK

Average American In Hustle of Life Has No Time for Unnecessary Cargo

Now that we are reminded of it we realize that the great American people are seldom seen to possess a walking stick. It's a small thing writes an essayist in a morning paper, the absence of the walking stick but it belongs to the American motto: never in the hustle of life carry unnecessary cargo.

The idea is of course fantastic with the fantasy of transpontine common sense. The hustle of life surely extends to travel in the case of a nation which would consider itself degraded if it spent longer than a week in a complete journey through Europe and when Americans travel they are the last to don themselves the luxury of an extra bit of luggage because it happens to be unnecessary. It is common knowledge that they go on loading the liner with trunks until the company's officials say "Stop" if only to collect so many more steamship and hotel labels to add to their already bloated store of these trophies.

No. The walking stick is a matter purely of personal choice. Most Americans chance to feel no need for a walking stick whereas we do. That is how the thing stands. When it comes to a walking stick the world must be considered individually. The physical weakling is quite likely to have a taste for a gigantic club, the enormously powerful man who snaps his [illegible] developer before breakfast as [illegible] it were [illegible] of cotton may elect for a walking stick the thinnest shred of malacca that money can buy.—London Globe.

For the Church Debt

By ALICE McDONALD

Copyright 1910 by American Press Association

"You will never get Edith," said Dave Spalding to his friend Luther Bennett, "and you may as well not try. You are rich and she is poor, but you're not the kind of a fellow she would fancy."

"You think so?"

"I know so."

"What will you give her for a wedding present if I do?"

"What will I give? It seems to me that's heads you win, tails I lose. What will you give if you don't?"

"I'd give a thousand dollars to any charity you name."

"In what time?"

"One year."

"Have you received any encouragement?"

"None whatever."

"Very well. I'll go you. How do you propose to win?"

"The basis of my operations will be money."

"She'll not marry for money."

"Not directly, but she may be induced to do so indirectly."

A few weeks later Bennett received a note from Miss Edith Cromwell stating that a fair was to be given to raise money for the church of which she was a member with a view to paying off the debt. She hoped he would attend and help the cause. Mr. Bennett replied that he would be on hand. When the evening for the sale arrived he sauntered up to Miss Cromwell's booth, expended $10 in various articles he had no use for and left them to be sold again. Miss Cromwell was disappointed. She had expected to get at least double the amount from one she knew to be her admirer and rich.

"Is there nothing else you see that you want?"

"Nothing else? I haven't yet bought anything I want."

"Is there nothing I can procure for you?"

"Yes. I would like a photograph of your pretty face, but that, of course, is not for sale."

Miss Cromwell made no reply for awhile. She was thinking she might get a pretty sum for the church by yielding in the matter. Finally she said:

"Of course my likeness is not for sale, but I might give it to the church, and the church could sell it."

"Certainly."

"How much would it bring?"

"A thousand dollars."

Miss Cromwell caught her breath. There were two reasons for her doing so—viz, she was flattered that any man should value her photograph so highly and she would be delighted to hand in a thousand dollars to the church. She turned the matter over rapidly in her mind. What difference would Bennett's possession of her likeness make? A man might buy a photograph of a fashionable beauty for a few cents. Those of actresses were for sale everywhere. The debt was $1,265. The $265 would undoubtedly be raised at this fair. The $1,000 she would get for her photograph would complete the amount required.

"What would you propose to do with my photograph?" she asked.

"Wear it in the hunting case of my watch."

"Would any one except yourself see it?"

"One standing by when I looked for the time of day would be likely to see it."

Miss Cromwell thought again. "Will you do anything else with it?" she asked.

"No."

"I'll think it over. The fair lasts two evenings. Come tomorrow evening and I'll give you an answer."

Bennett went away assuming a careless air, though he was much interested in the proposed deal. He was desperately in love with the girl and would have paid a dozen church debts to get her. The next evening (late) he stopped at her booth. As soon as she saw him the color left her cheek. She was waiting on some one else at the time and as soon as she had finished opened a little box, took out a cabinet photograph and handed it to Bennett. He concealed a look of triumph as he drew forth a pocket check book, wrote a check for $1,000 and gave it to her. She folded it, placed it in the box from which she had taken the photograph and said:

"You can cut the head off if you like and it will fit in your watch case."

"That's exactly what I propose to do." And he walked away apparently as carelessly as if he had purchased a pincushion.

The next day Luther Bennett while chatting with his friend Dave Spalding took out his watch to look at the time and Spalding caught a glimpse of Miss Cromwell's head in the case.

"By love!" exclaimed Spalding.

"What's the matter?"

"You have won already."

"I don't claim to have won." And pleading an engagement Bennett hurried away.

Spalding went at once to Miss Cromwell, told her that he had seen her head in Bennett's watch case and asked her if Bennett had a right to wear it there.

Miss Cromwell was stunned. She admitted that he had, but she wouldn't explain. Since she was unwilling to have it known that she had sold her likeness even for the church she never explained. She sent for Bennett, who came and convinced her that there was but one way out of the matter—to marry him.

Champion Hot Spender and Cutup Found at Pittsburg Amusement Park

"Talk about your hot spenders and regular dare devil cutups," said a Pittsburg motorman, "but I saw the champion Coal Oil Johnny of the lot at an amusement park the other day. We were standing outside the gate, waiting for the car to fill up when a bunch of bold young blades came romping out of the park and made for the car. They were from the country and had been having a high old time with pink drinks and strawberry jiggers and you couldn't stop 'em with a breakwall. One of them suddenly broke away from the bunch and made a dash for the front end of the car, but I blocked his way and told him he couldn't get on at this end.

"'O I got the price,' he shouted, 'an' don't you think I haven't.' And he hauled out a handful of small change. I insisted on his going to the back end and he put up an awful argument and got all fussed up. Finally he strode back to the rear platform, paid his nickel and striding straight through the car with a glare of defiance at me he stepped off and marched around to the rear again. Slapping down another nickel he repeated the performance and blamed if he didn't make the circuit six times before we got started, each time with his chin a little higher as he passed me. His friends cheered him to the echo and I suppose they'll be telling out in Bingville for years to come how he socked it to the Pittsburg Railways company."—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

THE PROBATE COURT REVERSED IN MATTER

Mrs Samuel Miller Holds First Lien on Property

MRS MILLER S CLAIM AN ALIMONY DECREE

Partition Suit of Kent P Johnson Against Charles D Melvin and Others—Mrs John I Morris Sues for a Divorce—Notes from the Court of Common Pleas

Reversing Probate Judge W S Spencer the written opinion of Judge Daniel Babst of the common pleas court in the matter of Frederick F Guthery assignee of Samuel Miller against Samuel Miller and others was received by County Clerk W W Klinefelter Friday of last week.

Martha Miller the divorced wife of Samuel Miller is declared to hold the first and best lien against the Miller property by reason of an alimony decree of $2 200 rendered by the late Boston C Young. The Wollenweber Lumber company the Marion National bank and others took judgment against Miller previous to the decree. The assignee filed in the probate court a petition to sell the real estate [illegible] at about $5 000 and all the parties who took judgment including Mrs Miller were made parties defendant. The question arose as to the priority of the claims and the probate judge held that Mrs Miller s alimony decree was not the first and best lien because others had taken judgment first. Attorney John H Clark representing Mrs Miller claimed that her decree was the first and best lien and carried her case on appeal to the common pleas court.

In the partition suit of Kent P Johnson against Charles D Melvin and others Judge Scofield has confirmed the private sale of the realty located in Marion and Hardin counties at a consideration of $10 335. The proceeds are ordered distributed according to law.

Alleging that within six months after their marriage the defendant became cross irritable and quarrelsome Elsie D Morris through Attorneys Mouser & Moloney brought an action for a divorce from John I Morris last Friday. She says she was married to the defendant March 10 1908 in this city.

Immediately after their marriage the plaintiff avers that her husband took her to live in the home of her mother and for more than a year failed to furnish her with a separate home in which she might live happily with him. Finally she says he rented a house but would give her no money and she was compelled to take in washings ironings and do sewing in order to get sufficient funds with which to buy the necessary household furniture. She says her husband insisted that she go out and work as a domestic besides and was indifferent to her welfare. May 18 1910 he left her and went to Columbus to live with his mother and since then he has remained away. He is now employed as a street car conductor in Columbus and earning from $55 to $80 a month. She prays for divorce alimony and restoration to her maiden name of Osborne.

George Ackerman who was fined $200 by Mayor John C Seiter for selling whisky in dry territory has filed a petition in error in the common pleas court through Attorney I E Myers. The automobile load of booze captured by the police has been transferred to the office of the county clerk and marked as exhibits. The usual grounds of error are set up by Ackerman in his petition.

On the ground of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty Bessie Martin has been granted a decree of divorce from Joseph Martin awarded $500 alimony to be paid in monthly installments of $10 commencing April 1 and restored to her maiden name of Kipp. The Martins were married February 22 1910.

Claiming that the court erred in not returning a judgment in favor of the Marion National bank instead of Martha Miller the divorced wife of Samuel Miller the Marion National bank through Attorneys Scofield & Durfee has filed a motion for a rehearing in the matter of Fred F Guthery assignee in trust for the benefit of the creditors of Samuel Miller against Samuel Miller and others. Among the defendants named in the petition are Annette Miller the present wife of Samuel Miller the Fahey Banking company the Marion National bank the Wollenweber Lumber company C W Leffler and William Bland partners J Strelitz Sons Martha Miller the C R Parish company and F B Taylor.

On the ground of gross neglect and cruelty Cassie Jackson was granted a divorce from Guy B Jackson and restored to her former name of Plotner by Judge W F Scofield Friday afternoon.

In the foreclosure proceeding of the Citizens Building Savings & Loan company against Samuel Droll baugh and others a finding has been given by Judge Scofield for the plaintiff and for O G Briggs and John Hanley on their cross petitions. The property involved consists of sixteen acres near Caledonia. It will be sold and after the claims amounting to about $ [illegible] are satisfied the remainder of the proceeds will be placed in the hands of Michael Waddell who as trustee will pay two dollars a week to the Waddel Children s home for the support of Drollbaugh s minor child. The foreclosure proceedings were brought by agreement.

GILES ADVERTISES AND SECURES WIFE

Mrs Alice De Good and Mr H F Giles Married

Morral March 24 —[Special]— Mrs Alice DeGood of near Richwood a widow and Mr H F Giles of Salt Rock township a widower were united in marriage at Marysville last Sunday evening and arrived at the farm home of the groom to make their future home this week.

The marriage was the culmination of a courtship that had its origin through an advertisement inserted in a Columbus newspaper by the groom.

Mr Giles has several children by his first wife who is dead. He needed some one to care for them and he hit upon the plan of newspaper advertising to find a suitable wife. Accordingly a modest notice was published and Mrs DeGood who had also lost her spouse by death answered it. More correspondence followed and then the groom went to Richwood to see her. She pleased him. He pleased her. It was soon determined that they should wed.

Mr Giles is about fifty years old and his bride is a few years his junior.

Bank With Royal Depositors

The English banking world is congratulating itself upon the receipt of a large and acceptable account. In fact King Manuel of Portugal has honored the house of Coutts on the Strand with the deposit of his private fortune and England is so much richer for Manuel s loss. This firm of Coutts is a remarkable establishment by the way for it has attracted the patronage of nearly all the royalty which has had occasion to leave money in London. Every English king from George II to the present George has kept his wealth in their vaults and Louis Philippe the shah of Persia and Leopold of Belgium have all patronized the Coutts.

Idea From South Africa

A South African baker has perfected a baking process by which steak is grilled at a temperature of 1 000 degrees. Steam at 220 degrees is transformed through pipes and a superheater into the grilling air. The hot air will cook a whole ox so it ought to do for barbecues.—New York Press.

TROUT FISHING AT NIGHT

Full Instructions Are Given by the Greatest of All Anglers, Izaak Walton

You are to know there is night as well as day fishing for a trout and that in the night the best trouts come out of their holds. And the manner of taking them is on the top of the water with a great lob or garden worm or rather two which you are to fish with in a stream where the waters run somewhat quietly, for in a stream the bait will not be so well discerned. I say in a quiet or dead place near to some swift there draw your bait over the top of the water, to and fro and if there be a good trout in the hole he will take it especially if the night be dark for then he is bold and lies near the top of the water watching the motion of any frog or water rat or mouse that swims betwixt him and the sky. These he hunts after if he sees the water but wrinkle or move in one of these dead holes where these great old trouts usually lie near to their holds for you are to note that the great old trout is both subtle and fearful and lies close all day and does not usually stir out of his hold but lies in it as close in the day as the timorous hare does in her form for the chief feeding of either is seldom in the day but usually in the night and then the great trout feeds very boldly.—Walton s Compleat Angler.

Lacked Length of Legs

A large pompous person wearing a high hat a long coat yellow spats and a congenital sneer for several days made himself obnoxious around a Washington hotel a bit ago.

He announced he was from New York nagged the bellboys jawed the clerks cussed the service roared at the food complained about his room and the elevator and the telephones and the bar and everything else.

One afternoon he walked over to the porter and said: Here you I m going to quit this town and go back to New York where I can get some decent service. I want you to buy me two seats in a parlor car on the 5 o clock New York train. Get me two seats now and meet me at the station with the tickets. I want one chair to sit in and one to put my feet in.

The seats were delivered at the train just before it pulled out. One of the seats was in car No 3 and the other was located in car No 4.—Cleveland Leader.

Strength In Advancing Age

To Hugo the years that bend and weaken and wrinkle the genius of the master seem but to bring fresh strength and energy and beauty. He ages like the lions. His brow seamed with august furrows rises under a mane larger thicker more bristling and more disheveled than ever before. His yellow eyes are like suns within caverns. When he roars the other animals are silent. Or changing the comparison one might liken him to an oak that dominates the forest its enormous wrinkled trunk bursting into leaf its branches mighty as trees. Its deep reaching roots drink of the sap of the heart of the earth its head almost touches heaven. In its vast foliage the stars shine at night the birds sing at dawn. It braves the sun the tempest of the wind the thunder and the rain. The very scars of the thunderbolt have added to its beauty something formidable and superb.—Gautier s Portrait of Victor Hugo.

A Food Combine

Oh John exclaimed Mrs Bayside laying down the paper, isn t it just lovely! You remember that young couple who were upset off here last summer in their sailboat? Well they fell in love and got married. And they re so well to do too. Her father s a rich packer and his father is a prosperous farmer.

Oh sniffed the summer hotel keeper, a sort of corned beef and cabbage combination eh?

COLONEL W. J. BRYAN IS COMING TO MARION

Closes Chautauqua Engagement for July

WILL LECTURE HERE ON JULY THIRTIETH

Engagement of the Eminent Nebraskan Completes the Three Days Chautauqua Program Which Is Considered Better Than Last Year. No Increase in Cost

Colonel William J Bryan is coming to Marion. Secretary J B Vanden of the hustling Marion County Chautauqua association had official confirmation Saturday of Colonel Bryan s contract to lecture at the chautauqua on Sunday afternoon July 30.

President Jones and a number of Chautauqua directors visited Colonel Bryan at Delaware when he lectured there and made personal application to have him accept the open Sunday afternoon on the Chautauqua program. The colonel happened to be engaged for the afternoon previous at Wooster so the thing worked out nicely.

The engagement of Colonel Bryan completes the full chautauqua program which the management believes to be decidedly more attractive than the very popular and pleasing offering of last year. The assembly will cover nine days this year without increase of cost in season tickets.

THREAD USED BY SURGEONS

Time Has Proven That Catgut Is Only Material for Buried Suture

When Lister first advocated the employment of catgut as a material for ligatures numerous writers pointed out the objections both theoretical and practical to the use of this substance. But time has seen a change and many surgeons at the present time maintain that the only suitable material for a buried suture is catgut and that silk should never be employed except for skin sutures.

In this as in so many other points the surgeon is greater than the detail. It is certain that millions of silk sutures have been inserted in the deep tissue and have not cut their way out for if a suture does make its way to the surface it is probably always because it was septic.

The attempt to find a ligature or suture perfect in every way has caused surgeons to employ many different substances. Metallic sutures for a time received much support though they are rarely seen now.

Animal fibres of various kinds such as kangaroo tendons and threads of the aorta of the ox have been praised by some surgeons and one surgeon claimed that perfection was to be found in fibres obtained from the ligamentum nuchae of the narwhal. It is fortunate that the medical world has not fallen in with this latter recommendation for it is to be feared that the supply would fall far short of the demand.

LIVING IN TWO HOUSES

Various Advantages Found In Arrangement of One Home In Country

At a place where I lately visited said a man just back from the country I found that my host had two houses which stood about two hundred feet apart. He had not built these houses but had bought them one after the other together with the grounds and some acreage property around them. If he had built here for himself he would doubtless have built one big house but these two houses served his hospitable purposes and his own comfort very well.

One of these two houses was commonly occupied as the family home and under its roof also were sheltered guests when these were few in number but if the visitors were more numerous quarters were provided for them in the other house which was thus practically a guest house.

In another way the two houses served conveniently and comfortably for the family s own use. If either house was being done over or repaired or torn up in any way the family simply dwelt for the time in the other. With two houses equipped for use they can always have one in which they may live quite undisturbed.

Paid a Ghost s Debt

An amusing story of an old woman s superstition came before Judge Drummond at Bailieborough county Cavan in the course of an action brought by Miss Anne Brady against a local farmer named Connell.

The plaintiff said that in June last the defendant told her that the ghost of her brother Phil who had been dead 26 years was haunting her because he forgot to pay defendant 70 shillings he owed him. The witness was frightened and paid the money which the defendant swore on the poker and tongs was due. The defendant said he after Phil died walked nine miles to the wake to see if he could get an opportunity of mentioning the debt but he was not given a chance. He denied having said anything whatever about Phil s ghost. His honor in giving judgment for the plaintiff said he firmly believed the story.

MRS. CURTIS WILSON BEGINS DAMAGE SUIT

Seeks To Recover Sum of $10,000 in Court.

OHIO & WESTERN LIME COMPANY IS SUED

Complains That Her Husband Is Scalded to Death While in the Service of the Company in April 1910—Matter of Thibaut Against Mayfield—Some Court Notes

Anna Wilson, whose husband Curtis Wilson, died as a result of being scalded by steam and water from a boiler at the old Central Ohio quarry April 11 1910 brought an action for $10,000 damages as the administratrix of his estate in the common pleas court Thursday morning. The Ohio Western Lime company is named as defendant.

Mrs Wilson sets up in her petition which was filed by Attorneys Mouser & Moloney, that her husband was employed as a stationary engineer in connection with a stone crusher. On the day he was scalded she says he was directed to repack a manhole in a boiler in the lime department.

When the plate of the manhole was removed it is alleged that the stationary engineer employed in the lime department turned on or opened a certain valve or injector permitting the steam and water to rush through the steam pipe directly under the manhole at a pressure of 100 pounds. The result was that Wilson was horribly scalded and died ten hours later it is alleged.

It is stated that the stationary engineer in the lime department was incompetent, as the company well knew and was employed without a state license. Because of the company's alleged criminal neglect and carelessness the plaintiff asks that she be awarded damages. The death of her husband the plaintiff says left her and their daughter Donna Belle aged two and one half years without means of support.

In the money only suit of William J Thibaut against Elmer day held the plaintiff has filed a reply setting up a general denial.

LOCAL MUSIC LOVERS TO ATTEND FESTIVAL

Special Car To Be Run to the Capital City

L S Vinson of Cleveland was in Marion arranging with local music lovers to go to Columbus Monday April 17 and hear the festival concert of the Sheffield choir of 200 voices and five soloists which left Sheffield England March 17 on a tour of the world.

The idea of a world tour of the big choir was conceived by Dr Charles Harris of Ottawa Canada and is conceded to be the greatest undertaking that has been attempted in the cause of music. The duration of the choir's stay in the United States is seven weeks. The time required to make the musical pilgrimage of the world will be six months and two weeks according to the present plans and the expense incurred will be nearly $200,000.

The appropriation of $50,000 with which to entertain the visitors to the forty fifth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which is to be held at Rochester August 21 to 26 inclusive has passed the New York state legislature. The bill went through with a rush with only one dissenting voice in either in the senate or assembly. The expenditure of the money will be left in the hands of the adjutant general of the state of New York, the department commander of the G A R of the state, Mayor Hiram H Edgerton, and two private citizens and two members of the G A R to be chosen by Governor John A Dix.

ORDERS ARE ISSUED TO CLOSE ERIE SHOPS

Lull in the Freight Business Is Held Responsible

MANY WORKERS ARE AFFECTED BY ORDER

Erie Firemen Are To Be Held To Answer for All Fires Resulting from Neglect To Obey the Running Rules of the Road—Big Four Making Changes—Railway Notes

Orders have been issued by the Erie to close down the work in the shop at all points until further notice. The instruction comes as a result of the lull in the freight business at this time. Just what is the cause of the lull is puzzling the Erie officers who declare that the falling off during the past few weeks has been very marked. The orders will affect many men in the various departments on this division.

The Big Four road is running new wire into nearly all the telegraph offices and general repairs are being made in this department. Many of the telegraph offices will be overhauled along the line and new equipment will be installed wherever necessary.

Many Erie engines are running through here with the headlights in the new position in the middle of the boiler head instead of up front on the smokestack. The Erie recently ordered the headlights be placed in this position when the engines are sent in for repairs.

J H Klein, trainmaster of the Chicago & Erie, was here Thursday morning on business.

In the future the firemen of the Erie are to be held responsible for fires along the right of way when the men allow the slides on their ash pans to be left open according to a bulletin issued by the Erie. Many of the men it is said leave the slides open when the train is let and allow the [illegible] to remain open when they should be closed.

Superintendent W A Pardy and Trainmaster J C Morris were here looking after Erie business Wednesday. It is said that Mr Edwards [illegible] decided [illegible] his present position as superintendent of the Chicago & Erie. He was recently [illegible] the position of superintendent of the [illegible] division.

J P Roblin who is employed [illegible] is off duty [illegible] operation for appendicitis Friday.

For his services as receiver for the C D & M interurban railway up to March 7 John M West will receive [illegible] $500 [illegible] and from that [illegible] he will receive $[illegible] on a month [illegible]. Judge [illegible] B [illegible] at Columbus Tuesday made the entry fixing the compensation of the receivers and George H Whysall [illegible] of this city who [illegible] as co-receiver with West to [illegible] [illegible] will be given $700. Mr West's compensation as receiver began August 7 1909.

Superintendent J M Connors and Division Engineer Crable of the Hocking Valley were guests of Illinois in the city Wednesday.

ERIE DETECTIVES AT WORK ON THE CASE

Harry Walters and Edward Shields Are Taken to the Columbus Workhouse To Work Out Small Fines for Intoxication—Albert Webb Is Before the Mayor

Report was made to the police, Wednesday that an Erie car had been broken open Tuesday night and a case of twelve quarts of whisky and a bucket of candy were stolen. The Erie detectives were at work on the case Friday, but no clue to the robbers could be found.

Harry Walters and Edward Shields were taken to the Columbus workhouse Thursday, by Chief Klinefelter and Officer Cusick, to work out fines of five dollars and costs each assessed against them by the mayor for intoxication.

Albert Webb who was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of assault and battery filed against him by Ina Preston his divorced wife was arraigned before the mayor Wednesday evening and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined five dollars and the costs in the case and sentenced to the Columbus workhouse for sixty days the workhouse sentence being suspended pending his good behavior.

Immediately after Albert Webb was released he was again arrested on orders of an officer in Columbus who stated that Webb was wanted to answer a serious charge. The officer stated that he would come here after the prisoner. Webb seems to be having his troubles. He pleaded guilty to two charges Wednesday and drew two fines of five dollars and costs each.

Charles Streets of Espyville gave the passengers of Erie train No 16 a bad scare Wednesday afternoon when he pulled out a revolver and began firing from one of the windows of the car. The passengers in the coach sank down in their seats and hid behind the backs of other seats fearing that Streets was crazy and might turn the revolver and shoot in the car. The incident occurred a short distance east of the station at Espyville Thursday morning J H Hardman an Erie detective with headquarters in Lima was telegraphed to meet Erie train No 16 and come to Marion to secure an affidavit for the arrest of Streets. Streets boarded the same train at Espyville and when the train reached Marion Hardman placed him under arrest and took him to police headquarters. He swore to an affidavit against Streets charging him with disturbing the peace by disorderly conduct on the train. The man was arraigned before the mayor and entering a plea of guilty was fined $10 and the costs in the case.
